

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

MRS. B. H. ELLINGTON was hostess yesterday afternoon at a buffet luncheon given to her friend, Mrs. T. H. Adams. Mrs. J. Allison Hodge received with Mrs. Ellington and Mrs. Adams.

The residence on Monument Avenue was decorated in masses of cut flowers and Southern smilax, baskets of Richmond roses, artistic posies filled with American Beauties, and the drawing room the colors white and wisteria were used, plaques of white and white roses ornamenting the mantel and walls, while baskets tied with shiny gauze ribbons were attached to the chandeliers and doorways. The mantel in the rear parlor was lanked with evergreens and carnations, the pink and white of the blossoms being sharply outlined against the green background.

In the dining room Richmond roses and lilies of the valley formed the centerpiece, from the midst of which rose a high-handled basket holding a shower of lilies. Balls of the roses suspended by ribbons of the same shade fell from the chandelier into the basket.

The punch bowl, presided over by Mrs. Robert Whitehurst and Mrs. Williamson Talley, was encircled with roses.

Assisting Mrs. Ellington were Mrs. C. R. Guy, Mrs. O. H. Funsten, Mrs. Robert G. Thornton, Mrs. E. M. Hoadley, Mrs. Anton H. Thiermann, Mrs. William H. Nelson, Mrs. Carlton Jackson and Mrs. Knox Wilson.

Fraser-Van Rensselaer.

Va., will be married to Mr. James Carroll Fraser, of Morgantown, W. Va. Miss Van Rensselaer is prominently related to several Virginia families, and has spent several winters in Baltimore. Mr. Fraser is a leading lawyer in Morgantown and is a member of the staff of Governor Dawson.

Bridge Tournament.

The third of a delightful series of bridge tournaments will be held this evening in the Woman's Club at 8:15 o'clock. Those intending to play should inform the chairman of the entertainment committee not later than 10 o'clock this morning. Players are privileged to invite gentlemen as escorts, or play with other members of the club. They cannot ask ladies residing in the city who are not club members.

Organ Recital.

The Junior Auxiliary of All Saints' Church will give an organ recital in the church on Tuesday evening next at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Ernest Cosby will play, and a delightful program is being planned.

Mrs. Hobbs Hostess.

Mrs. F. H. Hobbs, of Norfolk, was hostess at a delightful card party Monday afternoon at her home in Olney Road, complimentary to Mrs. P. N. Beades, of Danville, Va. There were two tables of bridge, and prizes for the highest scores were awarded to Mrs. Nathaniel Green and Miss Mills.

Taylor-Foster.

A wedding of much interest throughout Virginia was celebrated Wednesday, when Miss Nan Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Foster, of Roanoke, was married to Mr. De Moss Taylor, also of Roanoke.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elwood Foster, in Sixteenth Street, Washington, by the Rev. James William Ashton, of Olean, N. Y.

There were no attendants at the

This Lady Says

"I am your friend," writes Miss W. M. Wiesman, of Dorsey, Ill., "and send you my thanks, for what Cardui has done for me. My health was bad for two years. I suffered dreadful pain in my left side and headache and fainting spells every month. Since I have used Cardui, I am on the road to Wellville and I cannot say enough in favor of Cardui."

This famous medicine grows more popular every year, and when you have tried it, you will understand why its sales are constantly increasing.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Cardui is a good medicine—for women. It does the work. It is pleasant and harmless to take and seems to go to the sick spot and coax it back to health.

Headache, backache, sideache,—hundreds of other symptoms of female trouble—have all been driven away by the use of Cardui. Try it.

marriage. The bride wore a traveling suit of heliotrope broadcloth, with hat to match. Only the relatives were present at the ceremony. No reception was held, the bride and bridegroom leaving immediately for the West. They will sail from San Francisco January 29th for Japan, where they will spend some months. They will live in Roanoke on their return from the Orient.

French-Brown.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brown, near Wytheville, when their daughter, Grace, became the wife of Mr. Guy French, of Bluefield, W. Va. Rev. W. H. Troy performed the ceremony. There were no attendants.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony, which took place at noon, luncheon was served in the dining-room, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion.

Lord-Hoffman.

A wedding of much interest to Virginia society took place Monday afternoon, when Miss Henrietta Mactier Hoffman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Curzon Hoffman, was married to Mr. William Lord, son of the late C. K. Lord.

The ceremony was performed at 1203 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, the home of the bride, by Rev. Edwin B. Niver, of Christ Church. Owing to mourning in the family of the bridegroom, the wedding was a quiet one, and only the families and relatives were invited.

SHARP DEBATE ON DIVORCE MEASURE

Speaker's Substitute to Repeal Act of 1907 Is Referred to Judiciary Committee.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., January 21.—A sharp debate in the House on the divorce bill was ended by a decisive vote to refer the substitute by Speaker Graham, repealing entirely the 1907 act, to the Judiciary Committee. The act, which would allow a divorce after complete separation for ten years, provided there are no children. The bill recently introduced amends that to permit the divorce even if there are children, provided they are over twenty-one years old. That was favorably recommended by the committee, but the Speaker fought it, objecting yesterday to it, going to the third reading, and today he offered the substitute repealing the act of 1907 entirely. This was adopted by a yeas and no vote of 87 to 34, and the fight was whether or not the bill as substituted should go back to the committee before final action by the House. Messrs. McGuire, Murphy, Kitchin and Hayes urged reference against the opposition of Speaker Graham and Mr. Currie.

When that matter was disposed of, Mr. Kitchin introduced a bill to put man and wife on equal footing before the law on the question of divorce.

New Bills.

Several interesting new bills were introduced in the House today by Dr. Gordon, to protect laundries by establishing a lien upon wearing apparel; one to establish a library commission to run the public library business all over the State, calling for an appropriation of $1,000, the commission to consist of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Librarian, two other persons appointed by the North Carolina Library Association, and one other appointed by the Governor, without compensation, but who may employ a secretary not a member of the commission; the commission is to give assistance and advice to all libraries in the State and all communities proposing to establish libraries, every public library to make an annual report to the commission.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Butler to allow two years in which to bring actions against telegraph companies; one by Speaker Graham, to expedite the trial of capital cases and reduce the cost by allowing judges to summon a special venire from the same or adjoining county.

In the Senate, Mr. Long, of Ireland, introduced a bill to prohibit franks by telephone companies in North Carolina.

Mr. Barringer introduced a bill to create a judicial district out of Guilford and Alamance counties. A bill was passed to embrace the University of North Carolina in the Carnegie Foundation Fund.

Address by Tucker.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEWPORT NEWS, January 21.—Memorial exercises commemorative of the anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson were held at the City Hall here to-night, under the auspices of the Bethel and John W. Daniel Chapters, Daughters of the Confederate. The feature of the program was a masterly address by Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, who declared that the principle for which Lee and Jackson fought has become the "keystone of our governmental arch to-day."

Portrait Presented.

Likeness of Warrior New Adorns Court-house Wall.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LANCASTER, VA., January 21.—The first day of the January term of Lancaster Circuit Court was made memorable by the interesting exercises attending the presentation of a splendid oil portrait of the late Captain James Kendall Ball, the gallant son of Lancaster, who during the latter years of the war fought bravely for independence and commanded the famous Company B, of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry.

The day was auspicious, and the crowd one of the largest ever seen here on a similar occasion. Among those present were many old Confederates, some of whom had served under the warrior whose memory the exercises were held.

Judge T. R. B. Wright, who has done so much to beautify and adorn the walls of the courthouses in his circuit with the portraits of the worthies of this section, and at whose suggestion the portrait of Captain Ball was painted, presided, and introduced the speakers.

An impressive incident marked the beginning of the exercises. Mr. William Chalmers, clerk of the court, read a call for the roll of Captain Ball's famous company, and as the names were called those present would answer "Here." Only a few, however, of that band of 137 men are living to answer to their names.

Judge Wright introduced Warner Ball, Esq., a member of the Lancaster bar, and a kinsman of Captain Ball, who presented the picture in an interesting address. Much of the address was in original verse, and was read in original verse, Thomas J. Downing, Esq., received the portrait on behalf of the court and the people of Lancaster.

Judge Wright then introduced Hon. William Campbell, of Essex, who as adjutant's clerk of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry and a close friend of Captain Ball, has a long record of information concerning the military career of that officer than any other living man. After naming the eleven companies that formed the Ninth Virginia Cavalry and paying a loving tribute to Colonel Beale, its commander, he proceeded to mention some incidents in the military career of Captain Ball.

The Lancaster Confederate choir, under the leadership of its commander, Miss Genevieve Pinckard, enlivened this occasion with a number of songs.

The portrait is a present to the county from Mrs. Fannie Ball, widow of Captain Ball, who on account of her advanced age was unable to be present. It was unveiled by Miss Ball, a granddaughter of Captain Ball. It was painted by Mr. Paul Hallwig, of Baltimore, and is a fine work of art.
